YMCA basketball coach teaches courtesy and fair play to teens

Some parent told a whale of a fish story [in "Sound Off"].

This is someone who attended the 13-year-old basketball tournament in Dearborn, whose YMCA team won the basketball tournament 41-35.

There seems to be a sore loser parent out there who can't accept the loss.

The YMCA won all of its games that day, and the only ringers they put in were the outstanding players on the YMCA team.

The dispute came after all of the players went home and the coach couldn't accept being beaten.

The YMCA coach has always given his players positive reinforcements, and teaches them courtesy and fair play.

I think that someone needs a lesson to show him that the game is for kids. You win some, you lose some.

Our YMCA team earned their well deserved win. Way to go, Bulls! [This and the next caller apparently are confusing the post-game dispute with the previous "Sound Off" call, where the caller accused one of YMCA's opponents of roughhousing and using ringers, not YMCA. We deleted the other team's name for lack of evidence. YMCA players were the good guys in the "Sound Off" - Ed.]

Westland Y practiced good sportsmanship, unlike some other teams

I'm calling in response the article in the paper in regards to the Westland Y coach. I was at the game all day and never saw any poor sportsmanship exhibited except by the one Dearborn team, and for the ringers being brought in. Somebody who wrote the article better get their facts straight - there was nothing done wrong.

The bad sportsmanship was done by the other teams, not by the Westland Y team. My son has played for them for years.

What ever happened to former Westland gadfly Mildred Evans?

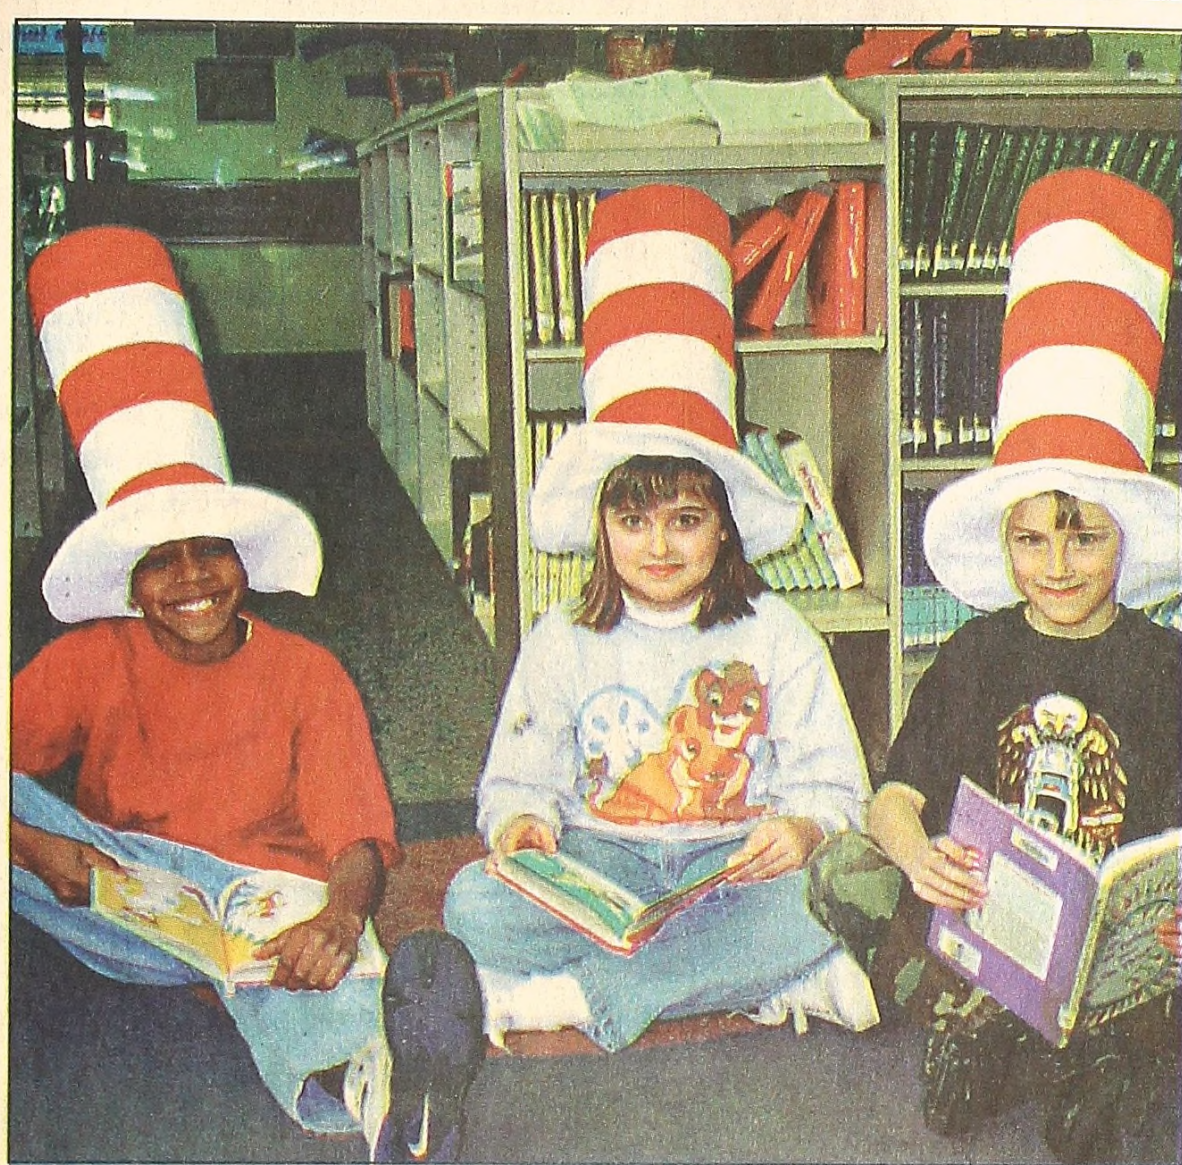

Can anyone tell me what ever happened to Mildred Evans? Was she exiled from Westland forever? [Mildred is alive and well and living in Kentucky - Ed.]

Romulus teacher ready for leukemia bike-athon

By AL POST
 MCN Staff Writer

Enthusiastic Barth Elementary School physical education teacher Sheila Stasek buoyed by heavy support from her students and local business operators is now in full preparation for her June 6 bike-athon in Lake Tahoe, Ariz.

Stasek revealed earlier this week that her supporters have already surpassed her $4,000 goal by more than $600 and she has now revised her goal to the $5,000 level.

While she is deeply grateful for the extensive gifts from Romulus and Huron Township business owners and managers as well as family members and friends, Stasek also was emotionally touched by a $300 gift from Barth students.

Stasek was presented with a check for $300 last week following a two week penny collection at the school that was supplemented by larger coins and paper money.

The local gym teacher extends her thanks to all who have been supportive of her effort to aid the Leukemia Society of America.

One key upcoming fundraiser will be an April 18 car wash at Romulus High School.

Stasek will continue to train for the extensive 100 mile bikeathon at Lake Tahoe, until several days before when she and seven other participants will fly from Detroit Metro Airport to Arizona for the major event.

Stasek said the average time for the ride is 9 to 10 hours and some bikers take up to 15 hours to complete the trek.

The Michigan bike team will be biking to support Monica -- a 19-year-old Monroe Community College student, who was diagnosed three years ago with ALL -- Acute Lymphocytic Leukemia.

Stasek says the disease is a malignant disorder marked by an increase in white blood cells called lymphocytes -- that are produced in bone marrow and lymph glands.

They are usually produced abnormally or immaturely in lymphocytic leukemia.

Monica is now listed in remission following two and a half years of treatment.

Stasek said 4,000 new ALL cases will be diagnosed this year alone.

Monica is the only known survivor of a brain infection caused by ALL.

Because of her own medical history and support from doctors and the public, Monica now reveals she plans to become a "childhood specialist."

Stasek resides in New Boston with her husband, Jim, and two sons, Jamie and Paul. She has worked in the Romulus School District for 23 years.

Follow-up stories will be published in June about Stasek's efforts to aid the leukemia society.

A cluster of 34 single family condominiums on 8.5 acres on Ozga road was soundly rejected by the Romulus City Council last Wednesday night, 6-1.

The only council person to vote in support of the project requested by Donald J. Treder was Councilman Michael Prybyla.

Just prior to the rejection vote, Councilman LeRoy Burcroff tried to arrange for a delay in the voting -- but his motion failed by a 4-3 vote.

Treder's project won an earlier endorsement from the city's Planning Commission, but that recommendation led to a large turnout of residents from Tyler, Wick and Ozga road in opposition to the plan.

Trying to calm some of the fears and complaints about crowded classrooms in the area, Treder explained he felt most of owners of the condos "would be senior citizens and empty nesters."

Treder said there was a heavy need for such quality housing units because many persons wanted to leave their older or larger homes and still remain in Romulus in their later years.

He said in fact his mother wanted such a condo and had to leave Romulus and move to New Boston for a facility similar to the ones he planned to create in the cluster.

Multiple residents complained about excessive traffic that would be developed in the cluster area...if residents there only have two cars a piece.

One nearby resident complained "there are nine vehicles just on the properties of my family and one neighbor. Can you imagine how crowded it will be if any of those families will be like ours?"

Many persons denied they were against future development in Romulus -- but felt strongly that the planned condo cluster was just in the wrong spot in the city.

New residents to the area said they built homes in the adjoining neighborhoods because of the rural setting -- with most having up to five acres a piece.

Others asked Treder "why can't you wait for single home development there?"

One major blow to the proposal came from a lawyer (Ron Reynolds of Southfield), who usually works on the side of developers.

Reynolds chided the council stating the action they were considering was "premature" since a roadway was not calculated into the measurements, no hydrology study had been conducted and the cluster would definitely change the neighborhood style.

Reynolds, who was hired by some selected neighbors, visited the neighborhood prior to last Wednesday night's public hearing and then spoke out at the hearing itself.

Reynolds chided the council stating the action they were considering was "premature" since a roadway was not calculated into the measurements, no hydrology study had been conducted and the cluster would definitely change the neighborhood style.

"This project is definitely ahead of itself," Reynolds concluded.

A major emotional issue that hit the council members hard was the cry that many of those involved in the project were Romulus Rotarians.

Since Mayor William Oakley, Councilmen William Crova and Donald Morris, Police Chief Charles Kirby, Community Development Director Richard Marsh Jr. and even Treder himself are local Rotarians, protesting citizens said they felt it is hard to believe this condo project was not discussed at Rotary meetings.

Other major complaints from citizens centered on street safety of their children and the nearness of Elmer Johnson Park -- where loud softball games are played until 10 p.m. and after during the summer months.

Several said that softball park lights and noise would surely bother elderly residents of such a complex. "Once they move in we are sure petitions will be pressed to limit the time of such night games," complainers said.

Others predicted that the home sites would then be linked to a future golf course.

Fred Sirhan, former businessman, dies, 72

By AL POST
 MCN Staff Writer

Fred A. Sirhan, 72, who along with his wife operated Fred and Mary's Party store in Romulus for 19 years, died March 4, 1999 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Born in Palestine on Jan. 17, 1927, Mr. Sirhan married his wife, the former Mary Mazer, on Feb. 20, 1955.

He worked for a time for Ford Motor Co. and operated the party store in Romulus from 1971-89.

Tip leads Westland police to pot bust

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Westland police recently busted a carload of pot smokers after an alert pizza worker tipped them off.

The pot smokers, young men and women, were parked across the street from a Joy road carry-out pizzeria in a black 1990 Dodge pickup at 1:50 in the morning. The truck's lights were off.

The employee feared that the passengers were easing out the business. It was getting near closing time, which meant that money would soon be removed from the safe.

She told a Westland patrolman, who checked the area. The officer approached the pickup, scaring it off. It fled. The patrolman followed.

The truck stopped. The patrolman parked his car and approached the pickup.

"The woman even admitted hiding the roach."

On his way, he saw a passenger, a woman, making "furtive movements." She reached between her legs as if hiding something, the officer reported.

When the driver rolled down the window, a strong marijuana stink walloped the officer.

Why was the car parked in front of the pizzeria? the officer asked.

Waiting for two friends to get home from work, the driver replied. They were just sitting in the car and talking.

Anything illegal in the car? the officer asked.

"No," all said.

When the officer asked if he could search the truck's interior, the said, "Go ahead, we don't have anything to hide."

As soon as the four occupants got out, the officer zeroed in on a marijuana joint on the front seat where the furtive woman had been sitting.

The discovery led to another question. Was anybody smoking marijuana? the officer asked. All confessed.

The woman even admitted hiding the roach.

The officer issued several citations for marijuana possession and released the suspects.

EMS billing reviewed by senior coalition

In response to questions received relative to the fire department EMS billing, the Department of Public Safety has reviewed the township's billing policy.

All users of Canton ambulance are assessed a users fee for service. The township uses Accumulated Billing in Riverview to bill for services. Firefighters will make every effort to gather all pertinent patient information so that it can be forwarded directly to the patient's insurance company. Often, in this case, the patient will never even see a bill.

In the event the bill is not completely covered by the patient's insurance company, the patient can expect a bill for the balance. This bill should then be turned over to the patient's co-insurance company for payment. If the patient is financially incapable of paying this bill, or there is no co-insurance company, the patient may request a waiver of fees due to hardship. This request should be directed to the fire chief.

The township is required by law to attempt to collect any fee not covered by the insurance from the user of the service. That is why patients may receive a bill sent to their residence for ambulance service. Three attempts must be made in an effort to collect the balance of the fee.

Fire Chief Micheal Rorabacher is available to address senior organizations to discuss this matter.

For information contact Fire Chief Micheal Rorabacher at (734) 397-5346.

Westland library delivers books to homebound

Westland residents who are homebound for any extended period of time will now be able to enjoy the collections of the William P. Faust Public Library of Westland.

Marney Cooley, Outreach Librarian, has announced a new service which will deliver books and recorded books directly to the homes of those residents who cannot travel to the library because of disability or illness. The Westland Friendship Center will deliver requested items once a week.

The Library has produced a printed catalog of over 5000 books on cassette and a separate catalog of large print books. A monthly newsletter to homebound customers will keep them informed of new items added. Registered homebound users may call the Library to request items.

Anyone interested in signing up should call the Library at 734 326-6123 to obtain a registration form; ask for Homebound Service when calling. The Library is located at 6123 Central City Parkway; hours of service are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, 10-5 Thursday, Friday and Saturday and noon-5 p.m. on Sundays.

DARE hosts Skate-A-Thon

Canton DARE officers will host a fundraiser for the DARE program from 6:30-10:30 p.m., on Saturday, March 27 at Skatin Station II. Students from the eight schools involved in the DARE program will each raise a minimum of $25 to participate. The money will be used to buy supplies, purchase handouts and aid in reducing graduation costs for the fifth graders involved in the DARE program.

This is the ninth skate to raise money for the DARE Program. In the past the Skate-A-Thon has raised nearly $9,000 to go towards DARE program expenses. Nearly 300 5th graders are expected to come out to the four hour skate. Pizza and pop will be served. The Howell Pepsi plant has donated pop for the event.

The DARE program often looks to businesses and others in the community for support. Donations from businesses and individuals enable the DARE officers to purchase t-shirts, hats, sports bottles and other items handed out to the kids. The money also aids in putting on DARE graduations at the end of the school year.

For more information on the Canton Police DARE program contact DARE officer Ken Winkler at 398-5804.

Dinner for 'handicapped' now slated for May 2nd

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The annual dinner for nursing home residents sponsored by the First United Methodist Church of Belleville will be held on May 2nd.

The event was postponed because of the sudden death of Handicap Minister Ed Hoff, who died this winter just before he was to retire.

The annual dinner puts a heavy focus on the value God places on all persons -- including those society often calls "handicapped."

A musical drama "King of Kings" will be offered March 26-28 at the Northville Christian Assembly Church.

The drama will provide a reflective look back at Christ's life and miracles and the lasting impact of his teachings on Paul and Silas -- two men jailed for their support of Christ's teachings.

The production displays the ridicule, harsh treatment and prison events the pair experienced.

The plays will be offered at 7 p.m. March 26 and 27 and at 4 p.m. March 28. The church is located at 41355 Six Mile road, one mile west of I-275.

Tickets are free, but will be needed to attend the shows. For more information call 248-348-9030. Saturday's performance will be creatively translated for the hearing impaired.

Battle against Howard Stern TV show growing

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A continuous battle to rid the TV version of the Howard Stern Show of some prime sponsors has picked up more steam, American Family Association of Michigan President Bill Johnson has reported.

Johnson and his AFA team have conducted an on-going effort to trim Stern's assets, feeling that would ultimately end his TV viewership.

Johnson was pleased to announce recently that Dunkin Donuts had pulled its advertising dollar from the late night-cable morning show.

Johnson revealed he had been conferring with Dunkin Donuts since 1998...expressing his concern that "the corporation that serves so many family oriented people would be so insensitive to family values."

While for a period of time, Dunkin Donuts continued its ads on the Stern show, Johnson urged AFA related persons to continue their sending of prot-

Painted Bible on display at Park West Gallery site

A tremendous 20th century graphic display of Chagall's Bible series is now open to viewers at the Park West Gallery in Southfield.

Chagall worked for 22 years on his epic series of 105 illustrations of scenes from the Bible...all now on display.

Columbia University Professor Meyer Schapiro felt the series represents the greatest print-making accomplishment of the 20th century.

Chagall's long career ended

ing on Easter Sunday at Belleville High School, Pastor Danny Martin revealed this week.

The church -- Belleville Christian Community Church -- will begin at 11 a.m. April 4 in the school cafeteria -- the first of 13 weeks planned at the high school.

A ribbon cutting ceremony is also slated for 10:30 a.m. April 18, prior to that Sunday's service. Local dignitaries are invited to attend.

The worship style will feature contemporary music and easy to understand messages with a "come-as-you-are" atmosphere.

Martin, a Van Buren Township resident, currently serves as president of the Central Business Community. He also has written a religious column in recent years for the Independent newspaper.

In the past Martin has served as an outreach minister, Bible study leader, worship leader and Sunday school teacher.

Martin has also assisted at Salvation Army food service outreach programs and at a Detroit homeless mission.

"My hope for the future is to someday build a multi-function church-community center," Martin said, that could also offer basketball courts, Christian dances, dramas and solid family movies.

A Weigh Down Workshop will start at 6:30 tonight at the Wayne Church of Christ, 3789 Venoy road in Wayne.

During the 12-week session, participants learn to follow the natural internal hunger God has created and replacing their devotion to the refrigerator with a life-changing love for God.

The fee is $103 for the workshop. For more information or to register page Jerri Gilmer at 313-238-6472.

At an earlier session, the listed weight loss for six persons was 78.5 pounds.

A soup supper and concert will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. March 26th at the Ferndale First United Methodist Church, 22331 Woodward, between 8 and 9 Mile roads.

The theme will be "Jubilee 2000", a multi-denominational effort to help end world hunger through debt relief to poor nations.

While the supper/concert is free, participants are urged to bring in a loaf of bread with them as a donation.

Maida challenges today's Catholics to get involved

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Deep in the midst of the 1999 Lenten season, Catholic Cardinal Adam Maida tossed out a contemporary challenge to his flock -- get involved with shaping public policy and definitely don't apologize for your faith.

Speaking before 200 judges and lawyers at the University of Detroit Mercy on Tuesday, Maida reminded those in attendance that "human laws are a reflection of the predominant culture."

He added "religion is part of the culture and so law necessarily and inevitably reflects religious values in one way or another."

Maida said leaders of the faith have constantly played major roles in the abolition of slavery, changing civil rights laws as well upgrading the world's work place.

History is filled with such leadership roles provided by men ranging from St. Ignatius to the more modern Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Maida himself was an imposing force in Michigan's recent rejection of the assisted suicide ballot issue.

Using such examples, Maida challenged modern day Catholics and other persons of faith to join current battles to reform education in Michigan, oppose efforts to create a death penalty in the state and to work forcibly for other key "life" issues particularly those involving abortion and assisted suicide.

Maida himself was an imposing force in Michigan's recent rejection of the assisted suicide ballot issue.

He also is an outspoken opponent of current abortion laws and practices...particularly those done by Catholics.

Pro-life forces welcomed Maida's challenge and hoped that other religious denominational leaders would come out equally as strong on "life and family issues."

One pro-life spokeswoman Diane Trombley stated "church and state forces can be allies."

Trombley added "in our effort to make church and state separate (in recent decades) we sometimes force them into the position of being adversaries."

The pro-life activist said that doesn't have to and shouldn't be the case.

Inkster resident Jonathan Patterson, a senior at John Glenn High School in Westland, is the winner of the 13th Congressional District Art Competition, Congresswoman Lynn Rivers announced.

The winning artwork known as "Man's Best Friend", along with other art pieces will be placed on display in the Capitol Building on June 22nd.

Rivers has offered to fly Patterson to Washington so that he can witness the opening of the exhibit. His art teacher is Selina Babcock.

A reception was held last Saturday at the Plymouth Community Arts Council to acknowledge all the artists, who took part in the competition in the 13th District.

Over 100 entries were submitted from 14 area schools.

Honorable mentions were given to Daisy Colie of Huron High in New Boston, David Kozontz of Plymouth-Canton; Elizabeth Spiteri of Plymouth Salem and Valerie Ponkey of John Glenn High School.

Sandy Askew, a local artist and representative of the Belleville Arts Council was among the judges.

Dave MacArthur of Canton has joined SilverCube Inc. as a digital designer.

In his new position, MacArthur will provide website and multimedia animation and design for some of the firm's largest clients.

Prior to joining SilverCube of Rochester, MacArthur served as a design/illustrator for Action Sports Apparel, Wayne State University and the Facet Co.

He earlier earned an associate's degree from Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Kathleen D. Dubin of Belleville has been named to dean's list at Boston University for the fall semester.

Dr. Robert Perry, head of Eastern Michigan University's Department of African American Studies, has been awarded the Libra Professorship Award from the University of Maine.

Perry will now spend two weeks at the University of Maine during which time he will give a campus-wide lecture, make guest presentations in various classes and consult with the Interdisciplinary Studies Committee to help develop a campus plan for ethnic studies.

Perry has experience in establishing ethnic studies programs at Slippery Rock University in Pennsylvania and Bowling Green University in Ohio.

Camille Marie Lane Jaros, daughter of Mark and Linda Jaros of Wayne, was born Jan. 4, 1999 at Annapolis Hospital Center in Wayne.

She weighed eight pounds and two ounces at birth and measured 21 and 1/2 inches.

She joins a brother, Chris and a sister, Amanda, at home.

Her grandparents include: Bernard and Patsy Turner of Inkster and Stella Jaros of Detroit.

Ralph Welton will speak on historical restorations at 7 p.m. April 8 at the Canton Historical Society Museum.

Welton is currently restoring the home of Civil War veteran Ephraim Truesdale, where he now lives with his family.

He will also outline much of the history of the Truesdale family.

The museum is located at the corner of Canton Center road and Heritage drive in Canton.

Newly elected Wayne County Commissioner John

Sullivan (D-11th District) reports he has attended over 50 area meetings and conferences this year.

He currently chairs the Youth at Risk Task Force, is vice chairman of the county Public Safety and Judiciary Committee and is a member of the Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services as well as the Audit Committee and the General Government Committee.

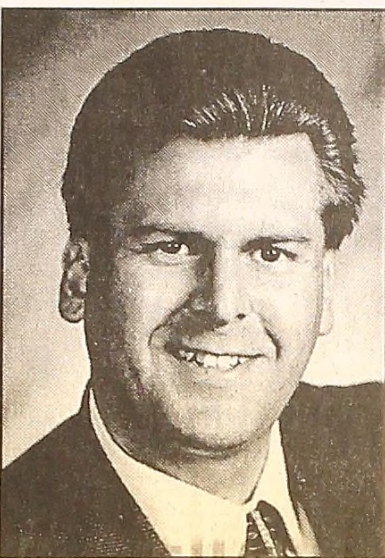

Sullivan said he has personally toured both Detroit Metro and Willow Run Airports.

In fact at 2 p.m. March 25 the roads/airport committee will be holding its meeting at nearby Willow Run Airport. The meeting is open to the public.

Sullivan, an attorney residing in Wayne, represents Canton, Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren Townships and the cities of Wayne, Romulus and Belleville.

He reveals he can be reached by calling his county office at 313-224- 0944 or by writing to him at the Wayne County Commission, Wayne County Building, 600 Randolph, Suite 450, Detroit, MI. 48226.

Sullivan said he is usually at the county office building Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and his aide Laura Willey is also in the office on Mondays.

Time to reschedule canceled Beanum, Sassafras ceremonies

On the eve of a testimonial dinner honoring her as one of the area's best parents, Zeffie Beanum took sick suddenly and died. It's a shame the lady couldn't live to hear her friends and neighbors liberally toss accolades her way, because this is one citizen truly deserving of all the praise.

The Romulus Chamber of Commerce singled out Zeffie for their Person of the Year award because she embodied a true spirit of volunteerism and activism that rallied everyone around her. More importantly, however, was her love for children, and this was exemplified by the twenty children and foster children she raised. To say there was a more loving and devoted parent around, would probably be a falsehood.

Although it is understanding why the Chamber decided to cancel the award dinner-dance, I hope it was only a postponement. Dead or alive, this lady deserves to be honored and it would be nice to reconvene with her friends and children receiving the thanks of the community. After all, some would say, she lived her life through the eyes of her children, so why not bestow the Person of the Year award upon them.

And in Westland I was saddened to hear another awards ceremony was canceled. This was to honor people who helped save Sassafras Trails, a controversial nature preserve. Organized by the Wayne-Westland Board of Education, and in particular, board member Teresa Robbins, B of E President David Cox put a halt to it at the last minute when a threatening letter from an attorney upset him.

The letter written on behalf of Sassafras activist, and ironically one of the honorees, Chuck Johnson, was insisting that a fence taken down by developers that bordered Sassafras be put back up. Cox found the threatened lawsuit to be insulting, thus canceled the ceremony.

I hope the Board will reconsider and reschedule the ceremony. The volunteers, many who put in long hours, deserve this public honor. Sassafras is indeed a wonderful natureland in the heart of subdivisions. It ought to be cherished and the many volunteers who worked to win a state grant that will assure its existence for many years to come should be thanked.

And finally, I would like to shamelessly plug another awards ceremony that will honor Michigan Community Newspaper's BELLEVILLE ENTERPRISE. The Belleville Chamber of Commerce is bestowing the honor upon the newspaper for its thirty years of service to the Chamber of Commerce. We certainly appreciate the honor, but quite frankly, it belongs to one of our own, Diane Ferguson, more than it belongs to the newspaper.

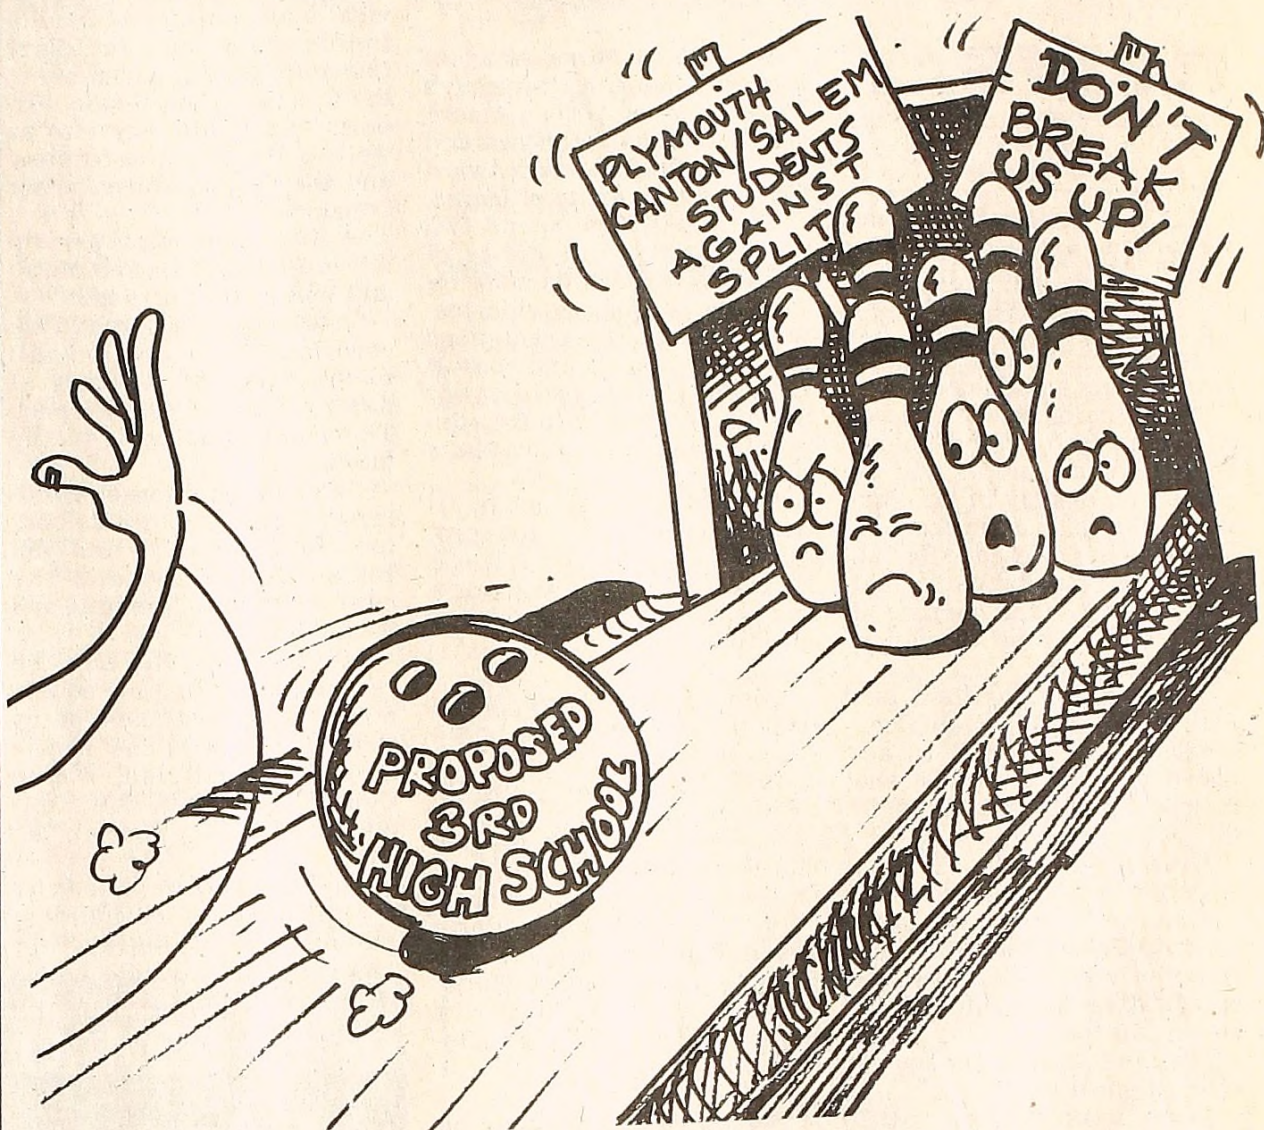

Diane has been with the ENTERPRISE all thirty years, for much of the time has been MCN's representative in Belleville. She has given thousands of volunteer hours to the Strawberry Festival, having singlehandedly organized the queen's pageant each and every year for the majority of those thirty years.

She is equally productive with her job. At MCN she is a classified sales representative. She is also in charge of the Strawberry Festival tab, the Belleville map, and the Belleville guide. Each of these projects she started from scratch and continues to build year after year. To all of us at MCN, Diane is Ms. Belleville, and it is her contributions to the newspaper and Chamber that have earned us this reward.

Mike's musings

We live in interesting times

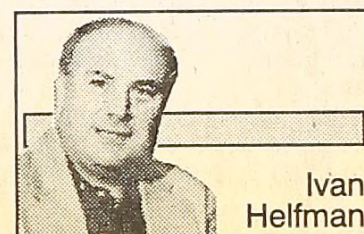

OJ Simpson and Monica Lewinski taught me the meaning of the ancient Chinese curse: "May you live in interesting times."

While the times are fast a-changing, we ignore the changes because we are cursed with an onslaught of delicious gossip.

Meanwhile, who cares that one out of every 150 Americans in now behind bars? With a record 1.8 million inmates last year, according to the latest Justice Department tally, the Land of the Free is quickly becoming the land of the jailbird.

There was once a time when Americans cared about such things.

Early on during Great Depression, rich and poor Americans actually got together and voluntarily agreed to share jobs so nobody would suffer and federal programs, with all their strings, would be unnecessary. With the support of industry and both political parties, the US House of Representatives overwhelmingly passed a bill to shorten the work week so every family would receive a paycheck. The bill was about to pass the Senate when President Franklin Roosevelt stepped in and persuaded the Senate not to allow ordinary Americans to help each other survive the hard times with dignity.

Instead, FDR instituted the New Deal, which meant that the federal government would be the caregiver.

Of course, FDR didn't tell the nation about the strings attached - dependency, red tape, and a permanent national security state.

While FDR probably thought that he was acting in the nation's interest, much was lost when the population of the world's greatest nation surrendered their independence for dependency.

Before the federal government wormed its way into Americans' lives, times were not as interesting. People had to work and raise families in the city and country.

People lived in boring times.

Life was hard for lazy men, unhappy housewives, disobedient children, and gossip columnists, who didn't appear in droves until Walter Winchell started broadcasting during the New Deal. Earlier generations were too busy for all Monica, all the time infotainment. (Ironically Winchell almost single-handedly got FDR re-elected in 1940 to whip a peaceful nation into warriors, but that's another story.)

Though pre-FDR Americans lived in boring times, Americans were free - the freest people in the world. Crime rates were low, murders were rare, and prisons, though brutal, were relatively empty.

Families were extended. Cities were alive -- even the ghettos. Literacy was high. America was the most productive industrial and agricultural nation in the world.

Enter the federal government and this world was turned upside down. Times became interesting. When things get too dull, there's always interesting celebrities -- Jon Benet, Princess Di or Kate Moss. There's tabloids, shock jocks and trash TV.

Of course, only future historians will have a handle on what happened or whether the changes were for good or ill. But in my opinion, 1,000 years from now the Chinese curse will still ring true: "May you live in interesting times."

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Honeymoons Don't Always Have Happy Endings

Dear Percy Ross: I'm fairly new to your column, so I don't know if you grant this type of request. The Missus and I have been married 35 years next month and are fortunate to see yet another generation beginning--total of 7 grandchildren. My wife always stayed home to raise our kids. Now she helps out by watching several of our grandchildren. As for me, I was looking forward to early retirement with pension. Here's the fly in the ointment. I found out I have throat cancer, pretty advanced. Next week I'll have surgery but it sounds like the doc isn't offering me a cure. The surgery will make the end more bearable or something like that. The hospital bills will be staggering.

I think above all, this bothers me the most. I've made the decision to refuse all treatment, so at least my wife will have whatever nest egg I've amassed to help her through. What I would like from you is about $500 so I can take my wife on a simple honeymoon. Couldn't afford one 35 years ago and hate like heck to spend a dime on it now given my circumstances. This is something we need to do soon because I don't know how quickly I will deteriorate.

Mr. E. J. Canadian Publications, Winnipeg

Dear Mr. J.: I've granted very few honeymoons because I always believed time would be on that couple's side and eventually they would realize their goal. That doesn't work for you. I have no choice but to give you the $500, plus an extra $100 and wish you well. May you find that your hellos and good-byes don't happen too close together.

Mr. Ross: My reason for writing is different than most. I'm 26 and up until '96 was destroying my family because of my own inabilities. About 6 years ago I met a girl. We ended up with 3 small children. We were way too young and neither one of us knew how to make a family work. Because of my low self-esteem I held my wife down and treated her like dirt to make myself feel more in control.

(Please insert new mailing address)

In short, my wife left me and I'm now trying to raise my 3 boys on my own. I lost everything that meant anything to me. I love her very much and now all the things that were so important to me before, pale in comparison to what it would mean to put my family back together.

I may never make up for some of the things that I did, but the possibility that this might be printed and that I could acknowledge my mistakes was too good to pass up. I hope you print this so that my wife--some place, some how might read your column--and know how much I love her.

Mr. M. K. ... The Leader, Indianola, IA

Dear Mr. K.: I wonder how many men have been forgiven through public apology? Probably very few, but this is certainly a start in putting your marriage back together. And seeing how newspaper space comes at a great premium, I hope you work things out.

Dear Mr. Ross: I find it hard to grasp the greed and ignorance of the people who write you. In one of your columns, there was a lady who was angry that you gave her son only enough money for the down payment on a car, instead of buying the car for him. What is this woman thinking?!

It is your money and your choice who you want to reward with your money. People should learn how to help themselves. I think you are tremendously giving and you use good judgment in choosing who to give to. In fact, you are more charitable than I would be with some of your writers!

Ms. H. J. ... Midweek Plus, Fargo, ND

Dear Ms. J.: Thank you. You're very kind to have written. In a perfect world only the deserving would receive help. I guess most of us are glad we don't live in a perfect world, because need is relative and not always apparent.

Professors needn't swear in the classroom

To the Editor:

Is it freedom of speech when a college professor uses foul language in the classroom? Is there any thought, any idea, any concept that cannot be expressed and explained without using foul and obscene street language?

If it isn't ever necessary to use cuss words to explain or be germane, why should a teacher offend the sensibilities of the learners with constant and every day insensitive, uncaring, abhorrent, depraved expressions which are intended to shock, incite, and disgust. The Oakland teacher should be excused from duties in the classroom and find employment where he can display his lack of dignity and honor without notice or complaint.

Toby Leis is innocent until proven guilty

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the Toby Leis arraignment. Sure Toby Leis is innocent until proven guilty, we shall leave judgment in this felony charge of criminal sexual assault second degree to a court of law.

However if the young 17 year-old boy who came forward to the Belleville Police Department happens to be telling the truth about being sexually abused I hope his parents, friends, and community realize what a tremendous service he has done in the eyes of the God-loving people in the world. I can't think of a more courageous act a young person could do to expose a sexual predator in order for the law to get them off of the streets and protect other potential victims.

I believe Toby Leis is innocent until proven guilty. I believe the young 17 year-old boy is also innocent. The article in the March 4th edition of the Belleville Enterprise made Toby Leis look like a "victim" in this arraignment. The article quoted an unidentified source to say "I was hurt, I feel really bad for him. A lot of people know his sexual preference, but nothing's ever come out of it even when he got involved in politics. But still, there are plenty of consenting adults out there." The unidentified source expressed concern for Leis: "He's unpopular with a lot of people and they'll destroy him because of this."

This case has nothing to do with sexual preference. This case has nothing to do with politics. What would a 17 year-old boy have to gain playing the political game?

This case has everything to do with finding out who is guilty, who is telling the truth, and justice being served.

Sincerely,
David B. Gowen

Reader welcomes spring with poem

To the Editor:

'Welcome Spring'
A wave of humbleness sweeps over me as I reach for a daffodill that just opened her eyes
Woods and valleys knell to God who have given them this beautiful collection of natures realm
Mortals, surrender to this joyous gift of spring
Lilacs perfume is like a baby's breath

Lily of the valley is in the bouquet of marriage vows

The world conquers the necessity of spring

Children's laughter can be heard of on the highest mountain

Raindrops are on stage in April,

They are king and queen of the garden

The Easter Lily wears angels wings

A cardinal gains an audience with his tender love song

Apple blossom's mystery proves itself in the fall

Spring wears its giant magnificance proudly

The lakes paint a portrait of rapture

The earth welcomes spring

Superintendent's refusal to hold election cost district $7.2 million

To the Editor:

Citizens of Plymouth-Canton, they did it again! Yes, your Board of Education, with our administrator, Dr. Little, cost us and the students 7.2 million dollars.

Yes, two years ago all we would have had to do in the election for the new schools, was count the votes, including the spoiled ones. They (Dr. Little, Mr. Goldman and some of the members of the Board of Education) said the they would win the election whether or not they re-counted the votes. They could have called for a new election at very little cost, not $7.2 million. That election would have passed, just like the middle school election did, because this community cares about education.

Once again, if the voters of the Plymouth-Canton district were treated with some dignity and respect, we would have a new high school and elementary building. However, school leaders wanted to fight, not talk. Yes, your paid administrators would not even talk to Jerry Vorva. Yes, citizens tried to get the sides together but it did not work. Again, the students were hurt because the adults wouldn't use conflict resolution. We tried this in the schools, and it works.

The now know the fact that the legal fight was not to blame for the loss of district money. It was the lack of selling the necessary bonds. It was the same outstanding legal advice we pay for from our district lawyers and administrators. They told our Board of Education that they could not sell the bonds because of the "validity of legal argument".

Members of the Board of Education, you were duped again. The community's interest and well being is in your hands. I find it hard to believe that, if you had known, the bond issue could have been settled by either country all the votes or calling for a new election, that you wouldn't have done it.

Taxpayers, it is time now it ask the question again, does the Board of Education really work for the best interest of the students and community, or do they just take what Dr. Little gives them as fact? You get another chance to vote for new member of the board of education in June. Hopefully, there will be some who will look with open eyes and an independent spirit at what is best for our students.

So, let's add another 7.2 million dollars to the loss column for students. Also, don't forget the $90,000 settlements, plus 10 years of dollars settlements and legal fees which have come out of the educational fund of our students.

A concerned citizen,
Kenneth H. Smith

If it's not broken, don't fix it

To the Editor,

Mario Bergner, a self-styled, so-called "ex gay," visited the campus of Hope College, in Holland for several days last week, culminating in a "healing" service in the campus chapel Sunday evening. His residency on the private college campus was enthusiastically endorsed, supported and promoted by the school's administration.

At every gathering he spoke about dysfunction and touted the bankrupt mantras of the fundamentalists and their unfounded, unproved and unfortunate hash of loopy ideas about sex and sexuality.

The "Ex-Gay," is another in the long line of Urban Legends in this country. Phenomenon that is alleged to be real, but is a fiction created to titillate and excite fear. In Bergner's case, promoting "healing" and "change ministries" is also a dangerous toxin, spewing into an already poisoned atmosphere that gives rise to ill-treatment, at best, and violent backlash, in typical cases, against gays, lesbians, bisexual and transgender (glbt) people who dare to live open, honest and complete lives.

At Sunday's Chapel service, for example, Bergner, the man who would be gay, said much about "sexual brokenness." Whatever that is.

Glb people, or people who recognize and act on their desires and legitimate attractions in order to live full lives, are not sexually broken, they do not come from abusive homes or childhoods that were marred by terrible parents and dysfunction. Berger's opinions on this are dishonorable, stereotypic, and stupid in their simplicity.

Fundamentalism rises out of fear. Nowhere was this more evident than in the appearances of Mario Bergner at Hope College. It is to the great credit of the student body, and those who support the on-campus glbt student organization, that brought the Rev. Mel White, an openly gay Christian minister, to campus during the same period to provide the antidote to the message of Bergner.

"Glb people are not broken, Mr. Bergner," said Jeffrey Montgomery, Executive Director of the Triangle Foundation. "We are not broken and therefore are not in need of the 'repair' that you would inflict on us. We are sorry that you can not live a more open and honest life about your own realm of desire. But don't inflict your troubled relationship with yourself on the rest of us who simply strive to live our lives freely and safely, as honest and open sexual beings."

"Bergner is very dangerous," said Sue VanHattum, a Muskegon glbt activist who attended the "healing" service. "His message might endanger someone who is struggling with their sexual orientation. Young people are vulnerable to isolation and confusing messages. It is those feelings that allow glbt youth to choose suicide as a solution. Bergner does not speak to them, in fact he contributes to that needless sense of despair."

"I found the whole experience to be very disturbing and hurtful, not only in what was said by Mario, but also in that there were some who took in what he said without thinking about it," said Ann Roulo, who is a student at Hope College and currently runs the glbt student group on campus. "I am very thankful for the faculty and student supporters who were involved, and I really worry about those who are still questioning or uncomfortable with their sexuality and are afraid to talk to anyone about it and receive the support they need."

Sincerely,
Jean Kosofsky

Sport fish may soon return to Rouge

David Cox

By DAVID COX
Romulus Administrator

Imagine this, you're at the banks of the Rouge River sitting with your grandson and he just caught a fish.

"What kind of fish is it Grampa?" asks the boy.

"Looks like a smallmouth Bass," you respond.

Is that even possible? I mean, will the day really come when it's normal for grampas and grandchildren to catch sport fish in the Rouge River?

Sure it will.

When I was a kid, I went fishing in the Rouge River. I never told my mother, though I don't remember why - I think because it was on a need to know basis and she didn't need to know.

We used to catch crayfish, frogs, catfish, bullheads, and spear carp. The plan was to have a campfire and eat the catch, but somehow that never happened.

I ended up taking them home and burying them under one of our shrubs. That shrub was always taller than the other six. My Dad always wondered why.

As it turns out that was probably a good thing. Good that I fished in the Rouge River and good that nobody ate anything we caught.

Though the River has had its share of damage, it isn't gone forever and with some work could be credible habitat for a variety of sport fish.

Which ones? Well, Smallmouth Bass for one. In fact, Smallmouth could survive in the Lower Branch of the Rouge from Canton Township all the way to the Detroit River by the time we're done.

How would you like to catch a Northern Pike in Canton Township, Northville, Livonia, Westland, Wayne or Southfield? Believe it or not, Brown Trout are likely to move in too.

If I have made the Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project look like an unmanageable and ridiculously expensive undertaking, good.

That's about the size of it. In fact, the whole project requires so much of everything it's hard to get a handle on just how much it will cost, but I am pretty sure it's going to be a lot.

In my opinion, being able to sit on the banks of the Rouge one day next to my grandson and telling him, "that's a Northern" will be worth every penny.

Canton Fire Dept. hires two recruits

The Canton Fire Department has hired two additional firefighters: Todd Lemke, 22, of Westland, and Jeffrey Rogers, 28, of Lansing.

Firefighter candidates must have certification from the State of Michigan Firefighters Training Council as a Firefighter I and II, current valid EMT certification from the State of Michigan, and successful completion of the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) written and physical agility test.

This is a comprehensive test currently being used by 24 Wayne County fire departments and several out-county departments. The written portion measures work related performance, such as mechanical and reading comprehension. The physical agility test measures the mandatory strength, agility and endurance required of firefighters. Certification in Advanced Life Support (ALS) is also required.

There is then an entrance examination and screening interviews which allow the department to rank the successful candidates. Successful applicants are then made a job offer contingent on successful physical, drug, & psychological testing and passing a background examination.

Lemke comes to the department from Huron Valley Ambulance. He holds an associate's degree in Fire Science from Schoolcraft College.

Rogers comes to Canton from the Jackson Fire Department in Jackson, Tennessee. He has his state certification in Fire Science from Lansing Community College.

Artists, crafters needed

Canton Township would like to extend an invitation to all to be involved in the 1999 Fine Art and Fine Craft Show at Liberty Fest '99!! The dates of the show are June 19 and 20th. The hours are Saturday, 10:00am to 9:00pm and Sunday, 11:00am to 5:00pm. Artists can choose to display their work under "the big tents" or can bring their own tent.

This is a wonderful opportunity for local artists to demonstrate and sell their art work in the exciting atmosphere of Liberty Fest! The art show is a juried show and each participant will be required to submit slides or pictures of their work from the approved categories: Painting, prints, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry, drawing, pastel and selected fine crafts. No commercially produced merchandise will be allowed.

Deadline for application submission is April 15. For more information contact Sharon Dillenbeck of D & M Studio's at 734-453-3710.

Support rallies for Hamberg Marsh

Efforts to save the Hamberg Marsh from development recently received a boost when the Friends of the Detroit River was awarded a grant from the Great Lakes Aquatic Habitat Fund. The $1500 grant is to assist the Friends in their efforts to prevent the destruction of the last coastal wetland on the mainland shore of the Detroit River, and with it the degradation of the lower river ecosystem.

The Great Lakes Aquatic Habitat Fund is coordinated by the Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council located in Petoskey, Michigan, and funded by the C.S. Mott Foundation. The Fund, and its companion project, the Great Lakes Aquatic Habitat Network, are designed to provide financial and informational support to citizen efforts to protect wetlands, lakes, streams, and other aquatic habitats across the Great Lakes Basin. There are two annual funding cycles, one in the spring and one in the fall. Grassroots organizations and citizen initiatives in both the U.S. and Canada are eligible for funding.

"The Great Lakes Region is defined by its rich water resources and aquatic habitats - majestic Great lakes, blue-ribbon trout streams, teeming coastal marshes, mysterious bogs, and unique fens. These resources are important to our economy and quality of life," said Wil Cwikiel, Director of the Fund. "Citizen involvement is essential to the long term health of Great Lakes ecosystems and the health of democracy in the U.S. and Canada. We see this grant to the Friends of the Detroit River as a sound investment in the future," said Cwikiel.

The mission of the Friends of the Detroit River is to draw attention to the beautiful yet fragile natural resources in and around the Detroit River. Milan Knezovich, a Woodhaven resident and Special Projects Coordinator of the Friends, stated, "This grant from the Great Lakes Aquatic Habitat Fund will help us stop the development of this last mile of coastal wetland along the river. We would like to preserve this marshland and explore how we can work with the new Heritage River Program to create a unique natural place along the river."

Don Griffin, a resident of Dearborn and Treasurer of the Friends said, "We would like to see a spot that is accessible to students on short field trips from their schools, to strolling lovers, young parents with babies, bird watchers, and everyone who would experience nature. At the same time, this special spot can be a stop-over haven for birds between Northern Canada and the South, a habitat for walleye, and the home for all the small critters that would live by the river."

Yack, Flanagan head new area Partnership for Arts

A non-profit organization being formed to lead the development of a future performing arts education center in the community has announced its new name - "Partnership for the Arts."

The name, which includes the additional identifier "Dedicated to Arts Education & Performance," is designed to reflect the group's mission to provide a regional center for the arts that offers "quality cultural enrichment," creative and diverse programming, inspiring arts education and innovative partnerships among community and regional groups.

A non-profit Board of Directors for Partnership for the Arts has also been forming to oversee the organization and the development of a business plan for the arts center. The new group includes local and regional leaders interested in the arts and the eventual creation of a facility to serve the needs of the western Wayne County region.

The Board will work closely with a steering committee which has already begun filing the necessary documents for formal 501(C)3 non-profit status. The Board will also review potential consultants who will develop a comprehensive needs assessment and business plan prior to finalizing any specific design parameters.

At present the Partnership for the Arts Board of Directors includes the following individuals:

Bryan Amann, a local attorney; Janet Campbell and Joanne Hulce, prominent Plymouth art champions; Richard Lewiston, a residential developer; Paul Hillemonds, president of Detroit Renaissance; John Lore, president of CEO of the Sisters of St. Joseph Health System; Gloria Logan, a drama instructor with the Plymouth-Canton Schools; Joan Noricks, president of the Canton Community Foundation; Murray Pitt, owner of Murray's Automotive Supplies; Don Soenen, president of Sensors Inc. and the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra board of directors; Michael Flanagan, director of Wayne RE-SA; and Tom Yack, Canton's supervisor.

Pizzaria's safe robbed; money returned

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

A Hungry Howie's employee was hungry for Howie's money. So the 18-year-old took $290 from the safe at the franchise located on Ford road in Canton.

The theft was discovered by the 26-year-old manager.

The manager, who was taking the day off, was cruising down Ford Monday at 5:45 a.m. When the manager glanced at the pizzeria's store front, he noticed something unusual, the open sign was on. What pizzeria is open at 5:45 a.m.?

He pulled over and went inside to switch off the electric sign. When entering, he noticed another oddity, the front door was unlocked. Apparently, the two night employees failed to lock it. Suspicious, he looked around and checked the safe. It was empty. The night drop money was missing.

He checked the cash drawer. Also empty. So he called Canton police.

Meanwhile, the manager called up some employees to find out if they had misplaced the money.

One employee, an 18-year-old man, admitted taking the money. He apologized and returned it to the manager.

When police asked the manager if he wished to prosecute, the man said it would be a Hungry Howie's corporate decision.

Romulus, Plymouth-Salem, Belleville win district hoop titles

Eagles to face Flyers in regionals

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Now, if only the next five games could go for Romulus as the district championship game against Monroe St. Mary's Catholic Central did Friday night, you won't hear coach Guy DelGiudice or the Eagles complaining.

But they know better.

After crushing St. Mary's 81-42 Friday night for the Class B district title at Gibraltar, Romulus was scheduled to play old foe, Willow Run, last night (Wednesday) in the first round of the regional playoffs at Airport.

The two Mega Conference, Red Division rivals split during the regular conference season, with DelGiudice's Eagles managing to beat the Flyers in their own hanger at Willow Run.

The "rubber match" will decide which will play River Rouge, the defending Class B state champ and two-time Mega Conference champ, for the regional title.

Rouge is an overwhelming favorite to knock Dexter, its first-round regional opponent, out of the playoffs.

"This regional is one of the toughest, if not the toughest Class B regional in the state," DelGiudice offered. "The team that makes the fewest mistakes is going to come out of here the winner - and there is a good possibility the next state champ will emerge from here."

Few would dispute DelGiudice's conclusion.

And few doubted that Monroe St. Mary's could stand up against a veteran Romulus team that leaped to a 20-11 lead and enjoyed a lopsided 44-26 advantage at the half.

Using all 12 members of the Romulus varsity squad, every member of the team contributed in the rout. Kevin Thomas scored a game high 21 points, four of his baskets were three-pointers. Teammate Rajaba Nelson had three treys in an 18-point performance. Nelson's points help break open the game in the second quarter.

Bryan Cole added 13 points and center Chris Garwood scored 10 points, grabbed eight rebounds and also blocked a career high 10 shots for the winners.

The victory boosted the Eagles' overall record to 14-9.

In the semifinals, Romulus had to come-from-behind to beat a disciplined Airport, 66-61. Airport, thanks to Derek Anderson, took an early 19-12 lead, but the Eagles managed to pull within a basket, 32-30 at the half.

With Thomas, Cole and Garwood's contributions, Romulus turned the tide in the second half. They outscored their opponents 21-16 and 15-14 in the last two quarters to seal the victory.

Better defense was the difference in that second half, according to DelGiudice.

Thomas equalled Anderson's scoring output of 19 points. Cole had 12 and Garwood 10 for the Eagles who made five of eight free throws.

Belleville senior guard C. J. Grantham (4) goes up for this jumper as Glenn's Mike Miller (32) is helpless in blocking the shot. Grantham was unstoppable in the first period as he scored 19 of his game high 36 points to lead the Tigers to their second straight Class A district title. Belleville, the Cinderella Team in the state a year ago, reached the state finals after losing 13 of their 20 games during the regular season. Denied conference title, Salem looks to regional

MCN Staff Writer

Although the Western Lakes Conference title as well as the conference's playoff title eluded them, Plymouth-Salem, and coach Bob Brodie made sure Friday night that they would own the title rights to at least one tournament before they called it quits for the year.

Playing methodically on offense and getting balanced scoring from its regulars, the Rocks rolled past Novi, 62-53, to capture a Class A district championship staged at Plymouth-Canton High School. In keep their playoff dreams alive, Salem had to beat a talented Detroit Northern team Tuesday. The two clashed Tuesday at Birmingham Groves in the first-round of the regional playoffs.

In the other bracket, North Farmington, the Western Lakes Conference co-champ (with Walled Lake Western) had to find a way to get past regional favorite, Southfield-Lathrup.

S-L went into the regional playoffs with an impressive 20-3 record and defeated a highly-regarded Birmingham Brother Rice, 67-41, for the district title.

"We got to go to the (regional) playoffs ready to play each game - there is no more tomorrows if we don't," Brodie warned. "Every team we play knows what they are up against."

Salem went into Birmingham also boasting an excellent record. The Rocks are 18-4 and, at one time, boasted a 14-game winning streak.

Salem got a season high 25 points from Aaron Rypkowski, who paced the Rocks against Novi.

Up by five after one period (16-11), Salem couldn't put Novi away. Novi came back after trailing 30-23 at the half to close within four (47-43) for three period.

Salem's defense gave up only 10 points in the final quarter to clinch the victory and the title.

Senior Salem guard Adam Wilson also tossed in 10 points. Novi received 14 points from Chad Nodoln.

Both teams were impressive at the free throw line where Novi connected on 16 of 19 opportunities' Salem canned 16 of 20 chances.

Annapolis upsets Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A determined, defense-minded Dearborn Heights Annapolis basketball team upset cross-town rival Robichaud in the semifinal round of the Class B district playoffs to post its first-ever basketball victory over the Bulldogs, 68-62.

Annapolis advanced to the championship round on Friday where the Cougars clashed with a superior Willow Run club and were ousted by the Flyers.

Willow Run advanced to the regional tournament at Airport, and drew Romulus in the first round scheduled for last night.

Robichaud wasted excellent all-around performances by two of their unsung heroes - Dwight Windom and Windell Winn.

Windom, recently named to the Mega Conference, White Division all-conference team, tossed in 14 points in the season-ending loss. Winn also pumped in 14 for the losers.

Robichaud's nemesis proved to be their turnovers and the scoring of Nate Beavers, who scorched the Divine Child nets for a game-high 19 points. Teammate Rubens Martinelli contributed 17 for the Cougars who wound up with a season record of 11-11.

But Robichaud will shore up its lineup for the 1999-2000 season with a fine crop.

Woods' lineup included such freshmen talent as Thron Thompson and sophomores Martez Hardy (yes, of the Barry Harry, Harlem Globetrotter clan), Dino Vann, Jahad Abdullah and Daniel Jarrett.

C.J.'s 36 points stuns Glenn, 75-63

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

You knew that it was only a matter of time that Belleville senior guard C. J. Grantham was going to explode on some team.

Unfortunately for Westland John Glenn, Friday night the time had come for the 5-9 guard.

Grantham erupted for a career high 19 of his team's 30 points in the first period to lead coach Rod Fisher's flying Tigers to a 75-63 victory over Glenn in the championship round of the Class A district playoffs staged at Belleville High.

A standing room only crowd watched, in awe, as Grantham hit four treys and set a one-quarter individual scoring record with his 19 points. Glenn, though they recovered to come within seven in the second half, really never recovered from the initial shock.

It was All-State Glenn running back Reggie Spearmon, who came off the bench and scored nine points, including an at-the-buzzer three, to wake up Glenn and help the Rockets close the gap to 43-37 at the half.

But a 19-11 Belleville third period all but sounded the knell for Glenn, which finished the season with a 12-9 record.

"That was one heck of a performance by him (C.J.). Every time I thought we would get back into the game I would look up at the scoreboard and they still seemed to be ahead by 10," offered Glenn's Mike Schuette afterwards.

Fisher was pleased with his team's overall performance,

"We got off to a good start and focused on developing that lead to the end."

- Rod Fisher

and exceptionally pleased with Grantham's individual efforts.

"We got off to a good start and focused on developing that lead to the end," the Belleville coach remarked.

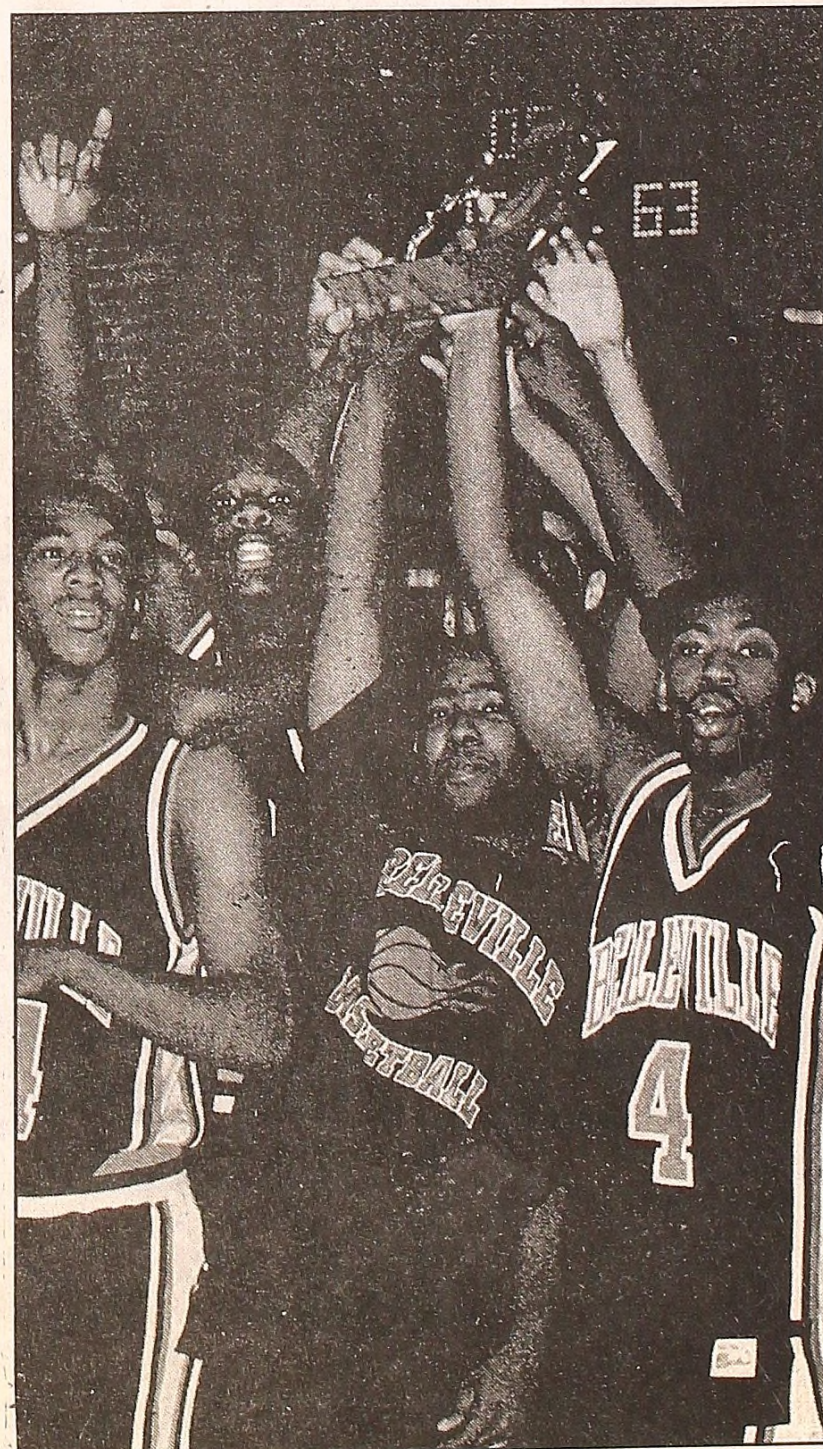

C. J.'s 36 was a career high for the four-year varsity performer.

Belleville also got 18 points from Kevin Harrison, while Glenn forward Ty Haygood wrapped up his prep career and an outstanding senior year with 14 points. Teammate Stephan Woods counted 13.

With back-to-back district titles stashed away, Belleville travels to Ypsilanti in quest of a regional crown. The Tigers, the Cinderella Team of the 1997-98 season when, after a 7-13 reguard season, came back to win the districts, regionals and play in the state finals, were scheduled to defend their regional title Tuesday night against Monroe.

In the other bracket, Ann Arbor Pioneer squared off with an excellent Taylor Kennedy team to determine which will play for the title.

The two winners will advance to the regional championship round, scheduled for 7 p.m. on Friday at Ypsilanti High.

Glenn eliminates Wayne Memorial; Salem ousts Canton

Top WLAA spikers selected

Although Walled Lake Central captured both the Lakes Division and the Western Lakes Conference volleyball championships this season, and dominated the 1999 WLAA coaches' all-conference selections, local teams are also well-represented on the mythical teams.

Both Plymouth-Salem, which finished runner up to Central in the Lakes Division, and Westland John Glenn, placed players on all-conference.

Central also finished atop of the Lakes standings, followed, in order, by, Plymouth-Salem, Livonia Stevenson, Farmington, Westland John Glenn, and North Farmington.

In the Western Division, Livonia Franklin earned the divisional title, and the runners-up was Livonia Churchill. Northville came next in the standings, followed by Walled Lake Western, Plymouth-Canton and Farmington Harrison.

The all-conference team, picked by the conference coaches, include: Amanda Mendenall (Walled Lake Central), Becca Saldama (Walled Lake Central), Angie Sillman (Plymouth-Salem), Stephanie Dultz (Livonia Stevenson), Lyndsay Sopko (Livonia Franklin), Tera Morrill (Livonia Franklin) and Lauren Ruprecht (Livonia Churchill).

The All-Lakes Division Team lineup included Leah Douglas (Walled Lake Central), Amanda Yanklin (Walled Lake Central), Amanda Suder (Plymouth-Salem), Laine Sterling (Plymouth-Salem), Kate LaBlack (Livonia Stevenson), Carly Wadsworth (Livonia Stevenson), and Jessica Letourneau (John Glenn).

The composition of the All-Western Division Team is

Walker makes her NAIA hoop debut

A second former prep basketball star made her appearance at the NAIA National Basketball Championships.

Merritt Walker, a sophomore at Castleton State College in Vermont, is a member of the Castleton club that qualified for the NAIA Division II National Basketball Tournament which got under way last week and should be concluded this week.

Walker is a biology major who attended Plymouth Central High School.

During the season, Walker scored 283 points, averaging 11 a game. She also had 145 rebounds, 24 blocked shots and also 51 steals.

The Spartan women's basketball team finished the regular season with a record of 14-10, and although seeded No. 3 in the Mayflower Conference Tournament in Rutland, Vermont, they went on to defeat Green Mountain College, the No. 2 seed, 76-62, and the No. 1 seed, John State College, 79-39.

District semis were classic duels

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

When it came to the semifinal rounds of the Class A district playoffs, the battles between the local rivals - Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial at Belleville High and Plymouth-Salem vs. Plymouth-Canton in Canton's backyard were "classics".

Neither team would surrender until the final whistle.

In the trenches at Belleville, Wayne unsuccessfully attempted to avenge an earlier two-point loss to its cross-district rivals, but Glenn fought off the bid, 51-47.

At Canton, Salem pulled out a big 53-48 victory over coach Danny Young's Chiefs (See story on this page) to make it to the district finals.

Glenn advanced to the championship round on Friday where coach Mike Schuette's Rockets fell to the host, Belleville. (See related Story on Front Sports Page).

Before a full-house at Belleville High Wednesday night, Glenn came back after being down 13-9 at the end of the first period to outscore the Zebras 12-6 and 15-12 in the middle periods to go up 21-19 at the half. The Rockets led 36-31 for three quarters.

It is never easy to lose, but these kids played hard and showed themselves to be a very competitive team.

- Chuck Henry

There was no letdown during the final eight minutes of the Wayne season.

Late in the fourth quarter, with 2:06 left, Wayne's Michael Zielinski drilled back-to-back three-pointers to cut Glenn's seven-point lead to one-point, but on their next trip down, Ty Haygood's put-back of the front end of a misfired one-and-one gave the Rockets a three-point edge.

The suspense further intensified when Wayne managed to get the ball back, via a turnover, that resulted in what appeared a sure layup, that rolled off the rim.

Glenn controlled the rebound and also the game.

Ben Harris proved to be Wayne's nemesis in the rematch. The 6-3 forward scored a game high 21 points and teamed up with Haygood, who had 11, to provide the Rockets with more than half of their points.

As they have been most of the season, Glenn was horrendous at the free throw line where the Rockets made a dismal 10 of 22 offerings.

Wayne had three players in double figures with Nate Wade's 12 as the Zebras' best. Rob Price and Jamar Davis added 10 each for the Zebras who had five opportunities at the foul line and made three.

Henry said that he felt that game was decided on the boards and "in the inside where they (Glenn) just wore us down."

"They outrebounded us by 20. We just couldn't match up inside with them, but despite the circumstances, our kids, I felt, played an excellent game."

Wayne wrapped up the 1998-99 campaign with atypical 7-14 overall record, the first losing season for Henry in recent memory.

"It is never easy to lose," Henry added. "But these kids played hard and showed themselves to be a very competitive team. Everybody we played walked on that floor knowing that they would be involved in a battle."

"That's the kind of kids these kids are. They never gave up against any of their opponents."

Brodie: 'Typical, Tough game'

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It's tough going on anyone's home turf and coming away with a victory.

But that's what Plymouth-Salem managed to do in the semifinal round of the Class A district basketball playoffs against arch-rival Plymouth-Canton Wednesday night.

Salem, showing Canton a wide range of defenses including several variations of the zone, pulled out a 53-48 victory over the Chiefs to advance to the championship round.

"It was a typical, tough Salem-Canton game," said

It was a typical, tough Salem-Canton game.

- Bob Brodie

Salem coach Bob Brodie. "We had our problems on defense in the first half, but adjusted in the second half."

What made Brodie decide he needed the adjustment his was Canton's senior guard and top scorer, Joe Cortellini, who opened up from three-point range early, and sparked the Chiefs to a 11-10 first period lead.

Salem outscored their hosts, 16-10, in the second period and went up, 26-21, and managed to stay ahead, but barely, throughout the game.

Cortellini finished his high school career with an exceptional all-around performance, and the game's top scoring honors. He wound up with 22 points.

But no other Canton player managed to hit in double figures.

Salem countered with a balanced attack that featured three players - Adam Wilson, Rob Jones and Aaron Rypkowski - each in double digits. Wilson's 14 topped the Youth hoop tourney deadline is May 7

If you're a manager or a coach of a girls or boys' basketball team and are looking for some action this spring, this one is for you.

Officials who stage the annual North American Youth Basketball Tournament announced this week that they will once again host their annual spring youth tournament for teams in the area on May 28-30 at the University of Michigan - Dearborn campus.

This tournament will feature 10 different brackets. They include 5th-6th grade boys; 5th-6th grade girls; 7th grade boys; 7th grade girls; 8th grade boys; 8th grade girls; 9th-10th grade boys; 9th-10th grade girls; and 11th-12th grade boys and girls.

All grades are based on the grade in which a student is currently enrolled.

The entry fee for the tournament is $95 and guarantees each team a minimum of two games. There will be awards presented in each bracket of competition.

The entry deadline is May 7, 1999.

For additional information or an entry form, please contact Anita Livesay at the toll-free NAYB spring tournament hotline at 1-888-629-2275 or tournament director Michael Trudeau at 810-469-4242.

Fellows Creek seeks golfers

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If you live in Canton Township and want to play golf this summer at Fellows Creek Golf Course in a recreation league, Canton Township recreation officials want to hear from you.

Recreation officials announced this week that they are seeking golfers who are residents for the league that will begin play on April 21 at the local golf course.

Fellows Creek is located east of the I-275 Expressway, north of Michigan Ave., off of Lotz Road.

Fellows Creek has a 28-hole facility located in Canton that offers three different 9-hole courses, a clubhouse with a well-stocked pro-shop and restaurant.

League members will be paired as two-man teams for league play.

Officials also announced that they have scheduled a 6 p.m. April 14 meeting to discuss league rules and regulations.

There is a April 16 deadline to register, and registration will be accepted from 8:30 a.m.

until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Canton Parks and Recreation Services, 46000 Summit Parkway, Canton, Mich. 48188.

Officials also said that the league will be open only to Canton residents, however, it will be expanded to non-residents if there are not enough local residents.

Registration is limited to 36 golfers. Registration fee is $420. This fee covers all league greens fees, prize money and league outing and awards.

League competition is for 20 weeks.

Former councilman now battling cancer

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Longterm Romulus Councilman Ellis Pennington is battling a terminal case of bone cancer, his son, Rodney, revealed Tuesday.

Pennington was one of the first Romulus councilmen elected in 1970 and served 12 years on the council.

He left the council earlier this decade.

Pennington served Romulus Township and later the City of Romulus for 30 years including a stint as highway commissioner.

The long-term official also served as the council's representative on the Planning Commission for a number of years.

Rodney Pennington said his dad spent three weeks at the University of Michigan Hospital, two weeks at its extended care facility and now is being treated by a team of hospice staffers at his Romulus home.

Pennington said the medical costs are heavy for his father. Anyone wishing to help his family with these medical debts should send checks in care of Rodney Pennington, 10268 Romaine St., Romulus, MI. 48174.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN VISIONING WORKSHOP TO IDENTIFY DESIRED TOWNSHIP AMENITIES

As part of updating The Charter Township of Van Buren's master plan, the township planning commission is developing the premier community amenities plan. The township is eagerly anticipating an exciting and unique upcoming event that is part of the development of this plan.

The township will hold a visioning workshop on Monday, March 22, 1999, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the Sheldon Room of the Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road. The visioning process includes interactive sessions, where participants provide input and ideas as guidelines for future action. Participants will affect not only today's and tomorrow's decisions, but also the future of the township for future generations who will live and work in the township. The township believes this event will be a dynamic opportunity for participants to bring diverse community interests and representatives together in a town forum setting. The township encourages all residents to participate in this upcoming event.

For the past few months, The Township Planning Commission has been working on a three-phase strategy to help Van Buren to become a premier community, including master plan and zoning ordinance amendments. The first phase reviewed the single family residential components of the master plan, including residential densities, lot sizes, and growth patterns. The third phase, which will link the other two phases, is the premier community amenities plan.

The distinguishing qualities of a premier community include not only home values, household incomes, and the tax base, but also amenities. Amenities are not luxurious, but are essential to successful communities. Amenities of a premier community include built and natural features which can be as varied as trails, church spires, civic buildings, golf course views, schools, shaded streets, gates, streams, tree stands, ponds, fence rows, hedges, woodlands, wetlands, lakes, and ponds. The preservation of significant landmarks historic features, and views of natural features from roads, for public as well as private benefits, is common in a premier community.

Once again, all residents are encouraged to attend this important event. The Visioning Workshop will be held on Monday, March 22, 1999, from 5:30 PM to 7:30 PM, in the Sheldon Room of The Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road.

For more information, contact Amy Miller, Coordinator of Development, at 734-699-8913.

ANNOUNCING BRIARWOOD FORD'S SEMI-ANNUAL $39.00 SALE

SALINE, MI -- Briarwood Ford, one of Michigan's largest Ford Dealers will host a special indoor used vehicle sales event this Saturday, March 20, 1999 at their Main location five minutes South of the Briarwood Mall at 7070 E. Michigan Avenue (corner of State and Michigan) in Saline. Over 150 used vehicles will be offered at deeply discounted prices -- hundreds below book value -- and as low as $39 Dollars. For the comfort and convenience of our customers, used vehicles will be displayed inside the building for this event. This event only happens twice a year, so if you're even thinking about purchasing a used vehicle, don't miss this opportunity.

Owner, Eddie Hall says "this sale is absolutely necessary due to the fact that during recent years new vehicle leasing has exploded. This has resulted in an over abundance of nice, low mileage lease returns and trade-ins acquired nationwide. This is an enormous sales event. "Record sales has left us with a great selection of beautiful used vehicles." Hall further states "we must reduce our inventory to a more tolerable amount. We want to offer these vehicles to our local community so they can experience for themselves our tremendous price reductions." In other words, now is the right time to buy a used vehicle at the absolute lowest prices, including a car for only $39 Dollars.

Here is how the sale will work! All vehicles will be unlocked at 9:00 a.m. so that the general public can inspect them. Every used vehicle in Briarwood's huge inventory will be clearly marked with drastically reduced prices for this special event. One vehicle will be offered for the unbelievable price of just $39 dollars. In anticipation of a large demand for the $39 Dollar vehicle, and to insure fairness to all of our customers, a drawing will be held at 4:00 p.m. to determine the recipient of the $39 Dollar vehicle. Briarwood Ford will offer these drastically reduced prices until 4:00 p.m. At that time, the sale will be completed and the store will return to normal business procedures.

Over the past 12 years, Briarwood Ford has taken pride in supporting the local community. This is an opportunity for Briarwood to give back to the community. Hall further states "this is a prime opportunity for everyone seeking a quality used car, truck, van or sport utility to obtain the best deals in the State of Michigan". All in all, it is a win-win situation for the customer, community, and dealer. Any and all questions are welcomed. Please call (734) 665-9414, Briarwood Ford, 7070 E. Michigan Ave., 5 minutes South of the Briarwood Mall, corner of State and Michigan, Saline, MI 48176. Please join us for this special event. Remember, it only happens twice a year--and only at Briarwood Ford!

Patterson cuts taxes

After waiting nearly two years, the new Republican-majority House Tax Policy Committee on Wednesday approved legislation reducing the state income tax to its lowest level in almost 30 years.

State Rep. Bruce Patterson, member of the Tax Policy Committee, moved passage of the bills, then joined his colleagues in approving them. The bill package cuts the personal income tax rate from 4.4 percent to 3.9 percent over five years.

"My record as a tax fighter and cutter for Wayne County residents is continuing at the state level," Patterson said. "I hope to make lowering taxes part of my legacy as a state lawmaker."

During testimony heard from State Treasurer Mark Murray, Patterson determined the relief afforded by these six bills will be nearly as great as the passage of Proposal A. The income tax roll back, coupled with 24 other tax cuts since 1994, adds up to $11 billion in taxpayer savings.

Salem rock shop raises funds to combat Cystic Fibrosis

The Plymouth Salem High School Rock Shop Marketing students have, through the year, donated rare Beanie Babies to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in an effort to help with raising funds for this charitable cause. Students chose to support this organization when they learned a P-

CEP staff member had a child with Cystic Fibrosis. The class donated several Beanie Babies throughout the year and were recently notified by the Detroit Chapter that from the donations, the foundation was able to auction them at several events and the bids raised nearly $2,000.

trotting away with the golden guy.

Best Supporting actress category is quite impressive and has many recognized ladies in the world of acting. The nominees are Kathy Bates for Primary Colors, Brenda Blythyn for Little Voice, Judi Dench for Shakespeare in Love, Rachel Griffiths for Hilary and Jackie, and Lynn Redgrave for Gods and Monsters.

The only person I can imagine holding the Oscar in this category at the end of the night is Kathy Bates she was outstanding in Primary Colors and blew me away, and herself at the end.

The Best Picture nominees are the must sees of last year. The nominees are Elizabeth, Life is Beautiful, Saving Private Ryan, Shakespeare in Love, and The Thin Red Line.

All of these movies moved me in many ways, but the statue will end up in the hand of Steven Spielberg for Saving Private Ryan. This movie was by far the most moving and talked about film in the past year.

To check out whether or not I am wrong watch the Oscars airing this Sunday Night. Check all of your local listings for channels.

Message in a bottle left our reviewer in tears

By SYIBLE MARR
MCN Special Writer

A really good romance flick is hard to find these days. The days of MGM have been over for a long time, and we see that in the theaters.

They have movies featuring teens in bad situations with new lovers. Killers chasing the teen lovers, and eventually killing them. Nobody wants to see that in a love story—all that killing.

Then there are the romantic flicks that has the possibility to be great, but it pulls you in and then leaves you hanging in the end. You know the ones that leave you going "Huh?" until they produce the sequel. You then spend another $7.50 to watch what you hope is the end of a beautiful story. Then you are sadly disappointed with the whole sequel you forgot you actually loved the first film.

Those are some of the reasons that pushed me away from seeing the romantic movie Message in The Bottle. I had the feeling I would be disappointed again. I would have to live with my grandfather's video collection again. Well this time I admit I was wrong.

I was in tears by the end of the movie. I was moved by the romantic escapades of the characters Garrett and Theresa, played by Kevin Costner and Robin Wright Penn. I felt their pain and their joy throughout the whole film.

The story starts with Penn's character on a small vacation away from the trials and tribulations of the newspaper business, which I can sympathize with. She works in the research department, but has always had the makings of a columnist even her boss tells her that.

She's having a wonderful time at a bed and breakfast on the New England coast. She has the hobby of running, so while there she figures she'll go for a beautiful jog on the beach, when a bottle sticking half way out of the sand catches her eye.

She yanks it out and reads the contents. It's a letter from a man to his lost love. He confesses how he has been lost since she has left and he is learning to cope with that loss. She is so moved by the romantic writings and vows to find its author.

She persuades her boss, a columnist, to let her research the letter and try to track him down. After begging and pleading its agreed and she shoots off on a mission.

After searching through many forms of research she finally is given the name of the author and his address. She rushes off to find out what his real story is. Who was the woman he wrote about? Why did she leave his life? Who is this man really?

When Penn shows up in Costner's town she can't make herself tell him the reason why she was actually there. She came to the town looking for answers to this poor man's soul, and she couldn't confess her true intentions without him leaving her in the dust.

She fell in love with his romance, his face, and his smile. Yet he was still in love with the woman in the note, his wife.

His wife passed away and left him with feelings of guilt. He left her alone while she was sick and she ended up dying soon afterwards. He blamed himself ever since.

She stays for awhile and helps teach him how to fall in love again. Costner can't help himself. He finally tells himself maybe it is time for a relationship, time for a new start, and Penn is there to help him with his leftover wounds.

They turn to each other with their past relationship problems. Hoping that they will never have the same problems with each other, but all does not stay the same in Eden.

Costner finds out why and is deeply hurt by the deception and leaves Penn. They are torn apart. Penn tries to contact him, but he stays away for awhile and decides what is best for them both. That is where the story turns into a romantic tragedy.

This was one of the greatest romantic movies I have seen in a while. I enjoyed every minute in the theater. I couldn't believe the ending.

That would be the only downfall to this movie. Its very dramatic and very fitting to the lovebirds, but you just want to travel to Hollywood and beat the crap out of the guy who actually wrote the ending.

This is a wonderful movie for every couple to see it reminds us all that even though we are in love or are loved we still can lose that love with just one wrong move.

Again it is time to get the Oscars out to the winners and losers out in Tinsel Town. Of course again I am offering my insights to possible winners in the main categories.

The Best Actor category lists many names we have seen on these lists before, but there are some fresh names joining them. The nominees are Roberto Benigni for Life is Beautiful, Tom Hanks for Saving Private Ryan, Ian McKellan for Gods and Monsters, Nick Nolte for Affliction, and Edward Norton for American History X.

The punches are going to be between Nick Nolte and Tom Hanks. The feeling though is Roberto Benigni will walk through the cloud of dust with the statue giving Edward Norton his second loss.

The Best Actress category list contains some of the most sought after actresses in the 90's and a couple that we will won't soon forget. The nominees are Cate Blanchette for Elizabeth, Fernanda Montenegro for Central Station, Gweneth Paltrow for Shakespeare in Love, Meryl Streep for One True Thing, and Emily Watson for Hilary and Jackie.

Unfourtunately Gweneth Paltrow will mostly likely lose this race to Meryl Steep. Unless the Academy decides to take a chance on Paltrow like they did with Mira Sorvino.

The category for Best performance by an actor in a supporting role has the makings of a who's who of the good guys. The nominees are James Coburn from Affliction, Robert Duvall from A Civil Action, Ed Harris from The Truman Show, Geoffrey Rush from Shakespeare in Love, and Billy Bob Thornton from A Simple Plan.

Everyone of these guys I could just give one of these statuettes to and not even flinch, but one of these guys has to win. I have a feeling that Robert Duvall will be

Senior employee, resident honored at Westland center

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Rhonda Gates, a certified nursing assistant at the Westland Convalescent Center, and Frances M. Kuszynski, a 92-year-old resident there, were both honored this month.

Gates began her position as medical products manager in October 1996 — managing the Grand Supply Room.

As the manager of the room, Gates must anticipate all medical supply needs and have those items available, organize and maintain all medical equipment and supplies and keep abreast of supply pricing structures and vendors.

The youngest of five siblings, Gates worked as a nurses aide at a local nursing home after graduating from high school.

She later joined the U.S. Army and became a heavy wheeled vehicle operator and earned the rank of sergeant before being discharged in 1987.

Gates must anticipate all medical supply needs and have those items available, organize and maintain all medical equipment and supplies...

She met her husband-to-be Bruce, while in the service. They have two children, Jacob, 7, and Lucas, 3.

Meanwhile Kuszynski was born on April 15, 1906 in Chicago, the daughter of John and Mary Pohivoda.

She and her youngest sister, Josephine, are the survivors of 10 siblings.

Kuszynski moved to Detroit after marrying her husband, Theodore, back in November 1923. He was a general foreman at the Ford Rouge Plant, but passed away in 1973.

She has one surviving son, Robert, and two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Rhonda Gates

She has lived in the Westland Convalescent Center since 1995. Her interests include crocheting, making afghans, sewing clothes, gardening, cooking and working with beads.

She has been an international traveler, visiting shrines in Washington, Chicago and Quebec, Canada.

Karmanos Cancer Institute to open office in Inkster

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A new branch office of the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute will be opening March 22 at the Amity Baptist Church of Inkster.

The office (one of four regional offices in western Wayne County) will provide free medical supplies, low cost food supplements and other services for cancer patients in Inkster, Romulus, Wayne and other surrounding communities.

The new office will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Fridays.

Trained volunteers will be working there under the direction of Donalyn Campbell, volunteer activities chairperson; Judy Mack regional coordinator and Kathy St. Onge, regional director.

The office is located in the back of the church (at 27075 Carlisle road in Inkster.)

To celebrate the opening an open house will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on March 22.

For more information call 1-800-527-6266.

The institute is affiliated with the Detroit Medical Center and Wayne State University and is supported by the United Way.

March is Women's History Month too

There are those who would argue that the past 99 years should be called Women's History Century, but for the sake of argument, March is Woman's History Month, a month to recognize the fairer sex's efforts from gaining the vote to establishing a strong voice in government.

In recognizing the tremendous contributions have made to our society, the Belleville BPW Club has collected books for and about women and has donated them to the library.

The club is also seeking donations of new baby items (clothing, diapers, etc.) to be given to First Step, a domestic abuse shelter.

For more information about membership or making donations, contact Vivian Mundy, 697-8843. The club's next meeting is open to all people who believe in helping women, and it is at this meeting the baby items will be collected. The meeting will be Monday, April 12, 1999 at the Belleville High School Cafeteria (teacher's lounge). Dinner will be served promptly at 6:30, and the cost is $7.50.

Community education on cancer prevention and screening will also be available.

In addition referrals for free transportation to cancer treatment and for other institute programs will be made from that office.

Community education on cancer prevention and screening will also be available.

The planned opening of the center is the long time dream of Gwen Brooks, a congregation member, who has received transportation through the institute's regional office in Dearborn.

The Amity Baptist Church recently underwent remodeling and thus gained space for a health ministry office.

The Rev. Anthony Eaddy agreed to use this space as a pilot project to serve the health needs of Inkster and neighboring cities. Services are available to any cancer patient, regardless of religious affiliation or treatment location.

31 early retirements due in Romulus School District

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

More than 30 veteran Romulus school employees are planning to retire in the next two years. Human Resources Director Sam LaMonica announced this week.

Volkswagen Beetle named 'African-Americans on Wheels' car of year

African American On Wheels (AAOW) magazine has selected the Volkswagen Beetle the recipient of "Vehicle of the Year" award. The award ceremony will be held at the Third Annual Urban Wheel Awards. This prestigious event, which preceded the opening of the North American International Auto Show, was hosted at the Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History, 315 Warren Ave., Detroit, Thursday, January 7, 1999 at 7p.m.

The magazine annually gives the award to a vehicle that shows exceptional value, utility and performance under urban driving conditions. Also, the winner is evaluated on a point system based on safety, security and other characteristics of interests to urban motorists.

"The VW Beetle stood out as one of the best reborn cars with distinctive styling and value introduced in 1998," said Randi Payton, publisher of AAOW. "The fun-to-drive Beetle weighs heavily with our target audience and draws attention wherever you drive it," Payton says.

The winners are selected by a panel of automotive journalists including: Earle Eldrige, USA Today; Kathy Jackson and Frank Washington, Automotive News; Warren Brow, The Washington Post; Ron Stodghill II, Time Magazine; Rosville Embry, Dallas auto freelance writer; Winfred Cross, North Carolina-based auto freelance writer and Blair Walker, Baltimore-based auto writer.

In November alone, auto consumers purchased 48,326 of the new and improved Beetles. Unlike the original "Bug" introduced in the 1960's, the 1999 Beetle is driving toward the new millennium with a brand new body of colors and redesigned internal structure.

African Americans On Wheels is a 48-page supplement to 40 black newspapers and zoned editions of three daily publications: The Detroit News and The Detroit Free Press and The Washington Post. Contact AAOW at (313) 963-2209 or visit www.automag.com
